BACKGROUND

Eoin Kenny is a Northern Ireland U21 international currently playing for Dundalk FC. A product of the club's academy, he spent time on loan at Wexford before establishing himself as a regular first-team player at Oriel Park.

Still only 20 years old, Kenny has already accumulated over 80 senior appearances and continues to develop into one of Dundalk's most important attacking players. His 2026 campaign has seen him register 3 goals and 3 assists in 19 Premier Division appearances while becoming a consistent starter in the top flight.

PROFILE OVERVIEW

Kenny profiles as a direct attacking winger who can also operate as a wide forward or second striker.

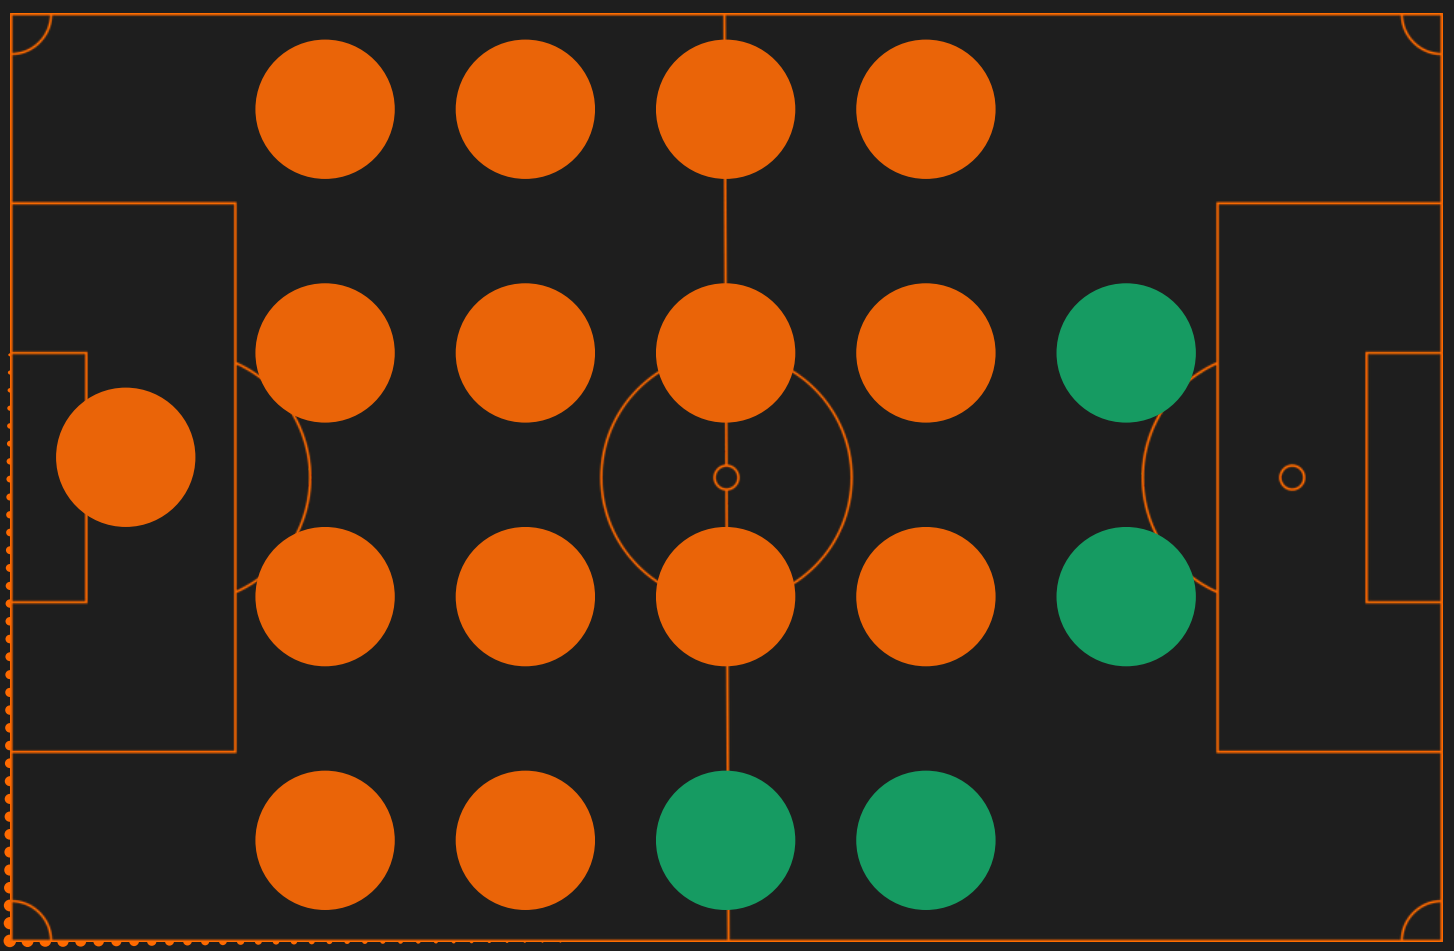

His game is built around attacking space, carrying the ball at defenders and generating shots. He is not a traditional touchline winger who relies primarily on crossing. Instead, he looks to drive inside, attack central areas and become a genuine goal threat.

The most encouraging aspect of his profile is the volume of attacking actions. He averages over three shots per 90 minutes, creates chances consistently and regularly receives possession inside the opposition penalty area. For a young attacker, those underlying indicators often matter more than raw goal totals.

His heatmap also suggests a player who starts from the right but spends significant periods moving into central attacking zones, making him difficult to classify as a conventional winger.

POSITION OVERVIEW

Position - Right Midfield

Position - Striker

IN POSSESSION

In possession, Kenny is at his best when driving at defenders. He is a positive ball carrier who looks to progress attacks rather than simply recycle possession. His dribbling numbers are strong and he consistently backs himself in one-versus-one situations.

His shooting volume is another clear strength. Averaging over three shots per 90 minutes demonstrates a player willing to take responsibility in attacking areas. He also contributes creatively, producing 1.68 chances created per 90 and creating almost one big chance every two matches.

The next step is improving efficiency. His attacking involvement is strong, but there is still room to become more clinical in front of goal and more consistent with his final ball.

OFF THE BALL

Without possession, Kenny contributes more than many young attacking players.

His defensive contribution numbers reflect a player willing to press, recover possession and work for the team. He remains engaged when Dundalk do not have the ball and is capable of contributing within a structured pressing system.

His movement inside the box is another positive. A large percentage of his shots come from dangerous central areas, suggesting good attacking instincts and an understanding of where chances are likely to develop.

The main weakness is aerial impact. His game is built around mobility, movement and technical actions rather than physical dominance.

TECHNICAL

Kenny's strongest technical qualities are his ball carrying, attacking intent and ability to create shooting opportunities.

He is comfortable receiving under pressure and has the confidence to take defenders on. His dribbling output and chance creation numbers support the eye test of a player who wants to influence attacks rather than simply support them.

His final action remains the biggest development area. The underlying profile is strong, but greater consistency in finishing, crossing and decision-making could significantly increase his output.

Player	Club	Minutes Played	Shots/90
Michael Duffy	Derry City	955	3.3
Eoin Kenny	Dundalk	1289	3.1
Daryl Horgan	Dundalk	1506	2.7
Kian Leavy	St Patrick’s Athletic	1513	2.4
Zack Elbouzedi	St Patrick’s Athletic	660	2

PHYSICAL

Physically, Kenny relies more on agility, acceleration and movement than raw strength. At 1.78m, he is not an imposing attacker, but he has enough pace to attack defenders in wide areas and enough mobility to make repeated runs throughout matches.

His game is built around receiving to feet, carrying the ball at opponents and attacking space. The dribbling numbers support the eye test, showing a player comfortable driving forward under pressure and progressing attacks individually. He is far more effective on the ground than in the air, with his aerial profile remaining a clear weakness.

His durability is encouraging. Despite being only 20, he has handled regular Premier Division football, starting 16 league matches and consistently completing significant minutes. As he continues to mature physically, further gains in strength could make his direct style even more effective.

Player	Club	Minutes Played	Successful Dribbles/90
Eoin Kenny	Dundalk	1289	2.7
Kian Leavy	St Patrick's Athletic	1513	2
Zack Elbouzedi	St Patrick's Athletic	660	1.4
Ronan Teahan	Dundalk	991	1.3
Daryl Horgan	Dundalk	1506	0.8

PSYCHOLOGICAL

Eoin Kenny is one of Dundalk's most promising young attacking players. He combines direct running, attacking intent and strong final-third involvement with a growing level of senior experience.

His biggest strengths are ball carrying, shot generation, movement into goalscoring areas and his willingness to take responsibility in possession. The main development areas are finishing efficiency, crossing consistency and aerial competitiveness.

The underlying profile is encouraging. Players who consistently create chances, generate shots and attack dangerous areas tend to improve as they gain experience.

At 20 years old, Kenny already looks comfortable at Premier Division level and has the tools to become a highly productive attacking player over the coming seasons.

IMPRESSION OF PLAYER

Eoin Kenny is a promising young attacking player who combines direct running, ball-carrying ability and strong final-third involvement. His biggest strengths are his willingness to attack defenders, generate shots and influence games in possession. While his finishing efficiency and final-ball consistency can still improve, he already looks comfortable at Premier Division level and has the attributes to become a highly productive attacking player.
